

About-Face

Place eleven toothpicks as shown in the picture. Can you make the house face the other way by moving just one toothpick?

Answer on page 39.

What might have happened?

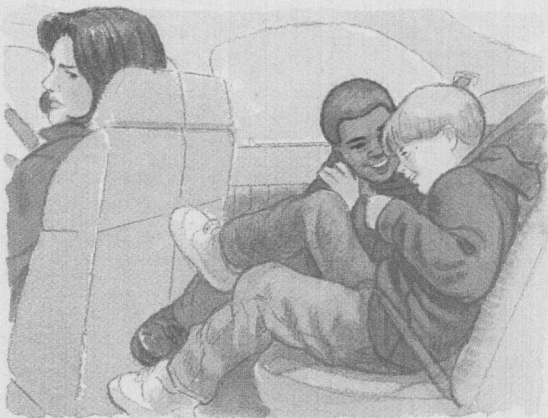

Just before lunch, Tyrone sharpened his pencil. He set it near the edge of his desk and hurried to follow the rest of his class to the lunchroom. When he returned, the pencil was in a different place on the desk and the point was broken. What might have happened?

Leisa was weaving potholders under her favorite tree, where birds nested every year, when her mother called her to come inside. When she returned, the fabric strands she'd been using were gone. What might have happened?

Matt was walking past his uncle's house when he saw a light go on. But Matt was quite sure his uncle was away on vacation. Matt went home and asked his parents about it. What might have happened?

Goofus and Gallant®

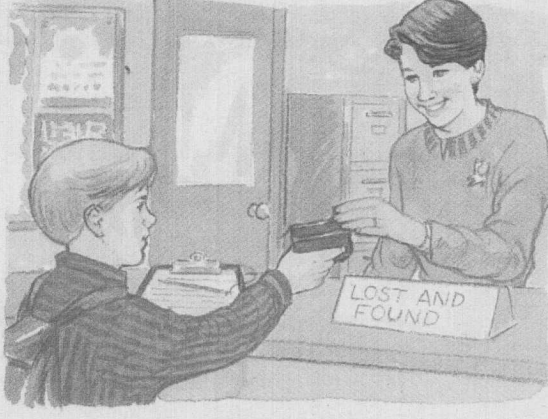

Goofus distracts the driver.

Gallant talks quietly in the car.

"Finders, keepers!"

When Gallant finds a lost item, he takes it to the lost-and-found.
